Reduce unplanned downtime and risks:

Increase uptime and avoid unplanned downtime by partnering with us to utilize vibration analysis on all of your major production equipment.

We utilize the latest Emerson CSI 2140 technology to collect data in three axes, horizontal, vertical and axial at each bearing location in the equipment train. Our experts then analyze the data using Emerson's AMS Machinery Manager software featuring proprietary Peakvue technology. This will enable us to identify early developing bearing defects, as well as, accurately determining the severity of faults.

We then develop a custom report for each customer that contains equipment identification, severity assessment, brief description of analysis, recommended corrective actions and supporting trend, spectrum and waveform plots. Our vibration analysts will then schedule some time with you to go through the report step by step, answer any questions and collectively develop a plan to fix current issues before they become catastrophic.
